

Build on your credits from Lakeland Community College and earn your bachelor's degree from Franklin University. All of Franklin's programs maximize the credits you've already earned. Lakeland graduates can earn the bachelor's degree by taking third-year courses at Lakeland and the remaining Franklin courses through the Holden University Center. Franklin's online degree programs are offered in a variety of areas including: Accounting, Business, Education, Information Technology and much more. Please see the back of this flyer for a specific list of degree offerings.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS:

Applicants must meet the requirements for admission to Franklin University. As a nonprofit, student-centered institution dedicated to removing barriers to higher education, Franklin University has an open admission policy for its undergraduate programs. Students are admitted to the university on a continuous basis over the course of the year.
