In support of student learning, Lakeland Student Government and the Library, along with the Academic & Student Affairs Office, will offer "Food for Thought" on Monday and Tuesday of finals week, December 11 and 12, beginning at 5:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m., each evening in the library. The "Food for Thought" project will provide beverages and high-energy snacks, free of charge, to students studying for their final exams.

Student response to the initial "Food for Thought" project was so positive that the library decided to make it a semi-annual event, to be held during finals week at the end of fall and spring semesters. Students can offer their suggestions and voice their opinions on the "Food for Thought" project, or other library services, by accessing the electronic suggestion box on the library homepage at: <http://library.lakelandcc.edu> or by leaving a written suggestion in the suggestion box located in the library.

Coming Soon! Library EXPRESS Station @ Lakeland

A Library EXPRESS Station will soon be available for library patrons.

The Library EXPRESS Station will be located along the Nursing driveway near H-building. The station will allow library patrons to pick up and drop off materials without coming into the library. Patrons will be able to request that their materials be placed in the EXPRESS Station; checked out and ready to go. Patrons will have access to the locker style boxes by keying a unique access code given to them by library staff. An adjacent book drop will allow the curb-side return of library materials. The Library EXPRESS Station will be a convenient and efficient service in support of student learning.

Reference Librarian, Kate Kendall and Library Technician, Kathy Fink, received the funding for this Library service enhancement, from the Fund for Strategic Initiatives.

For additional information, phone Kathy Fink at 440.525-7310

Book Discussion Group @ Your Library

Reference Librarians Present at OATYC 2006 on Information Literacy Assignment Templates

Lakeland librarians Kate Kendall and Tom Hyland recently gave a presentation at the OATYC Annual Conference 2006 at Hocking College in Nelsonville, Ohio. Their presentation, Tools of the Trade: Designing Templates to Teach a General Education Outcome, reviewed the small assignments that Lakeland reference librarians have created to address the Information Literacy General Education Outcome (IL GEO). These assignments are intended to be used alone or incorporated into existing assignments so that instructors across the curriculum can teach Information Literacy skills. Another major point of their presentation was the process of exposing the faculty to the IL GEO through a series of Teaching Information Literacy workshops. Through these workshops, the librarians introduced the concept of Information Literacy to the faculty and encouraged greater collaboration between librarians and faculty through Information Literacy instruction, the Liaison program, assignment design, and collection development. For more information visit the Lakeland Library's Information Literacy Gateway webpage at:

Library Mission Statement:

The Lakeland Community College Library is a full partner in the teaching and learning process of the college community. As the major information resource on campus, the library supports quality opportunities for lifelong learning by acquiring materials in support of the curriculum, providing access to those materials, and teaching information literacy skills.

General Education Outcome # 5:

Uses Information Effectively and Responsibly

The information literate learner accesses and uses information effectively and responsibly. The learner:

- Develops an effective search strategy
- Evaluates, selects, and critically analyzes information
- Uses and manipulates information responsibly, ethically, and legally
- Uses technology to access and manage information

See page 39 of the 2006-2007 Lakeland Catalog for the complete General Education Outcomes Model.
